Stop the Runaways!!

$120 Reward

WILL be given for the apprehension of six Negro Fellows, who escaped from us yesterday morning, on the road from Fayetteville to Cheraw, S. C., viz.

TOM,

A large, likely black fellow, about 27 years of age, a pleasant countenance, and very intelligent negro.—He will no doubt be lurking about Fayetteville, having been owned for a considerable length of time by Gabriel Holmes, Jr. Esq., of that place, and having a wife in the vicinity.

CHARLES,

A large, well set black fellow, with large whiskers, lately owned by Archibald McKay, in the upper end of Cumberland county. He is about 25 or 30 years of age and quite shrewd; he will no doubt return to that neighbourhood again, as he has a wife there.

IVEY,

A stout built fellow, light complexion, round face, with a fine set of teeth—smiles when spoken to; he was sold by Mr. Bridges of Chatham county, to Jonathan Harralson, Esq, of whom we purchased him.

LOVELACE,

A stout fellow, rather light complexion, with thick lips, about 30 years of age. As he was purchased from Mr. B. A. Barham, of Raleigh, it is very presumable he will return to that place, having a wife there, and a general acquaintance among the blacks. He is a most artful rascal—pretends to great sanctity, as all his theme is religion. He is well known as a Presbyterian preacher.

EPHRAIM,

A small fellow, light complexion, good countenance, about 30 years of age. He will also endeavor to get back to Raleigh, as he was sold to us by Gen. Barringer, and having a wife there.

SANDY,

A small black fellow, short neck and big mouth, about 22 years of age, articulates badly. He was sold by John Brown of Cumberland, and will, in all probability, return to that neighbourhood. We will give the above reward for the apprehension of the said Negroes, if lodged in any jail in the State, so that we get them, or $20 for each, so taken and secured.

By the following article from the British Traveller, it will be seen that a schism has taken place in the Methodist Episcopal Society in England, of a serious extent.

THE METHODIST DISSENSION.

The dissentions among the Methodist body which originally arose at Leeds, in consequence of the attempt made by members of that persuasion frequenting Orange Chapel, in that town, to have an organ erected therein to accompany divine service, and which was objected to on the ground, as alleged, of its being a departure from the original simplicity of the doctrines and observances prescribed by the founder of their religion, John Wesley, came before the late Conference in London, for decision.

The decision was against the innovators, as the church-music admiring Methodists have been called. This, however, has not had the effect of reconciling the Non-Conformists, who, instead of succumbing to the decision, have had a meeting of their own body to consider what course they should adopt.

The result of their deliberations has been, that they have determined on erecting the organ. For the purpose they have employed an eminent organ builder, who is at present in London, engaged in the completion of its erection. It will be opened in the most solemn manner in the course of next week, and Mr. Charles Wesley, a relative of the founder of the Methodist connexion, is expected to perform on it for the first time, on the occasion.

They have gone further, and at a meeting on Wednesday, determined to form themselves into a distinct religious body, under the designation of the 'Wesleyan Protestant Methodists.' A solemn protest against the decision of the Conference was also subscribed by the Trustees, stewards, local preachers, and leaders of the non conformists, on behalf of the Members generally. They also subscribed a solemn declaration of the motives and grounds of their proceedings.

Their protest, among other matters, declaims against the effects of that unchristian and irresponsible authority exercised by the preachers, and confirmed by Conference, in making, altering, suspending, or abrogating laws binding upon the whole Methodist body, without consulting the societies, or any persons appointed on their behalf—a power assumed by no other Protestant authorities in the world, civil or ecclesiastical.—They also protest against the Conference securing to themselves the property of the connection in the chapels, schools, &c. built by the people, and for the debts upon which the trustees alone are responsible. They protest against alterations which they say have destroyed the primitive simplicity of Methodism, and defaced its original character, and against forms of government, terms of authority, and titles of distinction, assumed by the preachers, not only without the sanction of the Rev. John Wesley, but in contradiction and even against the laws of the connection. They protest, finally, against submitting any longer to the unlimited authority of the preachers, as contrary to Christianity, the practice of the primitive church, and the privileges of English subjects.

Founded on the sentiments contained in this protest, they came to a series of resolutions, the principal of which was, that it became the duty of all friends of Christian liberty to unite in opposing such arbitrary proceedings, which are contrary to the New Testament, to the canons of the Church of England, and to the usages of every Protestant church in the world. A committee was also nominated, to communicate with the different Societies in the United Kingdom, and to prepare suitable laws for the new society, as consistent as possible with the original rule of the Rev. John Wesley, to be finally submitted to the whole society.

The number of seceders in Leeds alone amounts to 2,000. It is expected they will be joined by at least 30,000 more of the connection throughout the United Kingdom.

The Dictates of Conscience.—Lord Erskine, when at the bar, was always remarkable for the fearlessness with which he contended against the Bench. In a contest he had with Lord Kenyon, he explained the rule of his conduct at the Bar in the following terms:

"It was," said he, "the first command and counsel of my youth, always to do what my conscience told me to be my duty, and leave the consequence to God. I shall carry with me the memory and I trust the practice, of this paternal lesson to the grave—I have hitherto followed it, and have no reason to complain that any obedience to it, has been even a temporal sacrifice—I have found it, on the contrary, the road to prosperity and wealth, and I shall point it out as such to my children."

A letter from Paris, of recent date, published in the London Literary Gazette, contains the following paragraph.

"The deaf and dumb youth, who had been condemned to a year's imprisonment, has had his punishment commuted to only a month's confinement, in consequence of some palliating circumstances, and the able defence of his lawyer. As soon as judgment was pronounced, M. Paulmier, one of the Masters of the Deaf and Dumb Institution, addressed the criminal in the language of signs, and explained to him that a superior justice had rendered invalid the first judgment; but that chains, the galleys, and sufferings, would be the consequence, should he fall anew into error. Nothing could be more interesting or animated than this pantomime, particularly when he raised his hand, in sign of taking an oath, it became most affecting; for the young Hue, as if electrified, followed immediately the movement of his master; and in the attitude of repentance, made a silent promise, heard only by the Being to whom it was addressed, but which the magistrates accepted as an oath; and perhaps was one of the purest ever offered,—at least the countenance of the offender brightened into a sublime expression as he internally uttered it, as if conscious of the sacredness of the act. The whole scene was a lesson to those gifted with the use of speech who so often call the Deity as witness to words they never intend to keep."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of this city dated at Ashville, (N. C.) Sept. 25th, 1828

"On our journey we have met with immense droves of cows, hogs and sheep, all from Kentucky for the South. In 4 days we passed upwards of four thousand head of cows; and of horses and mules, a prodigious number; no less than 871 mules, and 571 horses are recorded as having stopped here; and several droves have passed through without stopping.—Chas. Patriot.

Walking.—I was once in a decline, and my physician said that nothing would restore my health but gentle exercise on horse back. I bought a horse for twenty five dollars, which is certainly a very gentle price, and for a week took the dust through the Mill Dam, when I found myself so much exhausted with the gentleness of the exercise, that I sold the animal at half the purchase, and looked round for some other mode of preserving life. His paces were, I believe, as easy as those of horses in general, and he was by no means a fractious animal, but he rattled my bones like a Watchman's instrument, and chafed off six inches square of leather on the inside of my knees.

Another doctor (may he be hanged) now advised me to buy a cord of hickory wood and a handsaw, and become a sawyer for half an hour daily. For the first half hour I laboured as if life indeed was to be saved by the sweat of the brow, when I threw away my saw and was confined to my room for a month in consequence of the fatigue.

When next I emerged, it was a fine morning in Spring, and its freshness induced me to take a stroll. I returned gently fatigued, but had an appetite for bacon and eggs.

From that time, (which was six years ago,) until the present, I have been a constant walker, and walking has restored my strength, and contributed much to my amusement. That I might, in my strolls, have more subjects for contemplation, I acquired a smattering of botany and geology. In the season I seldom returned without a handful of flowers, and astonished my family by spreading before them a cargo of rocks for specimens, with which I often returned in ballast.

The English are a stronger, much more healthy, and I think, a handsomer race of men than we are, and I request you not to deny this, till you recollect among those of your acquaintance the upright attitude, strong gait, florid complexion, and pearl-like teeth.

But why are these advantages in their favour? Simply because they have more athletic excursions, and are a more walking people. The lakes of Cumberland, and mountains of Wales, Scotland, and even Switzerland, are in Summer thronged with English pedestrians, who have, in this independent way of travelling, a more favorable way to see the customs of a country than they can have when whirling along in a coach, and among clouds of dust. We have in this country scenery as worthy of a visit as any in Great Britain; we have Lake George, the White Mountains, and the Green Mountains; and if any young men will walk to them and back they will much amuse themselves, and return with a new stock of health and strength, and a plentiful harvest of novel impressions.

Boston Eve. Gaz.

The following anecdote is told of a certain irritable tragedian. He was playing Macbeth, and had rushed off to kill Duncan, when there was no blood for the Thane to steep his hands in. The blood! the blood! exclaimed he to the agitated property man, who had forgotten it; the actor, however, not to disappoint the audience, clenched his fist, and striking the property man a violent blow upon his nose, coolly washed his hands in the stream of gore that burst from it, and re-entered with the usual words, "I have done the deed—didst thou not hear the noise!"

From the New York Courier.

The following lively sketch is from the same charming pen which adorns our columns under the signature of "NORNA." The fair writer deserves a vote of thanks from the Corps Editorial.

A Newspoper.—A newspaper! It is the cradle of genius—the record of truth. Woodcut engravings adorn it, and the Muses smile graciously upon it. A newspaper! It is a picture of the world. Cast thine eyes over its grim pages; like that, all is confusion and bustle—each one pushing forward to attract attention by arts no matter how trivial. Little ships and big ships; steam boats with their roaring wheels and black smoke, whiz past us; post coaches and post boys; boxes of tea and barrels of Cogniac; Franklin gridirons and La Fayette bedsteads; strayed animals and found animals, all are mingled promiscuously together. "Money!" cries the Lottery office. "Fire!" cries the Insurance Company. Strange that between both men cannot get money and keep it. Some applicants for public notice are very modest in their approaches, only soliciting favour as long as they deserve it; others are more aware of their claims on public gratitude, and surely some are prompted by the very spirit of philanthropy. The same diversified scene; In one column a fire, in the next a successful speculation. Here a man eats himself to death, there a child is starving; the widow solicits a pittance, and the rich man offers his loan; the register of Death numbers the old, the middle aged and the young. Matrimony! ah, the list is generally long and appalling. Notice! alas some Jonathan is close at hand, advertising his refractory rib? what is the matter with thy wife, friend? is thy steak cooked too much! or are thy potatoes burnt up? or thy door locked at twelve P. M. and thou on the out-side? or did she love gadding about? she must be a mild creature, for she makes no angry retort. A newspaper! It makes one love this little round ball of earth. All the ships are well built, copper bottomed and fast sailing; the houses are in good repair—extensive outgrounds, delightfully situated; no lime-bleached linens or damaged cambricks; no mouldy almonds or musty oranges, or sour raisins; Maderia wine and Spanish segars are all of trans-Atlantic origin. In short, every thing comes from its proper place. Human beings, too, seem to be very social—so many partnerships. Sometimes indeed, we find some little soul, armed with a patent right, elbowing his way through the crowd, threatening "chains and slavery" to all who dare invade his proper sphere; but generally men seem to have coupled themselves together in loving fellowships. Much as our world has been abused by misanthropes and despised by poets, we doubt whether they would find in the clouds any thing half so convenient. Why, here is every thing—Theatres and Circusses, rope-dancers and singers, gardens and gun-powder; doctors for the sick, teeth for the toothless, wigs for the bald, braces for the ill shaped, rouge for the pale, and white lead for the rosy. It is indeed a bright and beautiful world, and we pray, gentle reader, that thou mayest be preserved from the spirit of love and poetry; only read thy newspaper punctually, and it will always appear to thee bright and beautiful.

An extraordinary woman.—There now resides in Montgomery county, in this state, a lady in the 55th year of her age, who weighs 510 pounds. Her stature is rather low; she is the mother of ten children, nine of whom are living, and she says none of her relations are above the ordinary size. At 20 years of age she weighed 135 pounds, commenced becoming corpulent at the age of about 30; her general health is good, but from her unwieldly size she can walk but a few steps.—Nashville Banner.

"Detraction."—Another work from the prolific pen of Amelia Opie, has been republished by O. A. Roorbach, on the mischiefs and sinfulness of detraction. Like her production on Lying, the present subject is illustrated in all possible aspects, and must impress the reader with the conviction, that few views disturb society more than does that of defamation. If it be true, that in the physical constitution "to know the disease is half the cure," it may be so too in the moral, that justly comprehending the dreadful effects of detraction, may prevent its progress. Then, can that benevolence of heart and labour of mind be too highly appreciated, which renders these effects evident, even to the commonly gifted understanding.—Charleston Courier.

Acceptable Compulsion.—When a bill for regulating watchmen was in its progress through the House of Commons, a member observed that a great number of them, being employed in labour all day, could not do justice to their watch during the night; he therefore proposed, as an amendment, that every watchman should be obliged to sleep six hours in the day-time. Another member rose and said, 'I heartily second the amendment moved by the honorable member; and beg, that on account of my being much afflicted with the gout, I may be included in it.'

Pedlars wanted.—Mr. Jeremiah Greenleaf, of Guilford, Vt. advertises for "one hundred active and intelligent young men, of good education and character, to dispose of a new and valuable work.

Pensacola, Oct. 14.

Important from Vera Cruz.—Letters to the 10th September have been received in this City from Vera Cruz, which state that, on the 28th August, all foreign merchants residing at that place, had been summoned by the military authorities, and a forced loan to a large amount demanded, with the intimation that, if it was not granted, they could not promise the merchants safety or protection from a starving soldiery! The merchants had refused a compliance, with a determination, if matters became more serious, to take refuge on board the vessels of their respective nations.

We are happy to learn that the U. States' Ship Hornet, Capt. Claxton, arrived there on the 2d September, and will remain there to protect the property and citizens of our country, and that it is the intention of Com. Ridgely to send another Sloop of War to relieve her in good time.

It appears that the Military force of Mexico, are only half paid—the Naval not at all. The result of the late election for President of that country was not known. Great excesses are feared if Guerrero is not elected, and his success is more than doubtful; the votes in the neighbouring Provinces, as well as in Vera Cruz, are against him. It is said his moderation alone will save the State. A few days more will remove the uncertainty; until then, the foreigners are looking on, with fear and trembling.

New York, October 28.

The Balloon.—Mr. Uegene Robertson and his Æriel fellow-voyager.—The ascension of Mr. Robertson, which had been postponed from time to time, on account of the state of the weather, took place yesterday afternoon, from Castle Garden. At an early hour the Battery was thronged, and about 2,000 people, including a large concourse of our most respectable families, occupied the galleries and terrace of the Garden.

The huge globe was gradually inflated from twenty-four tin, leading into two silken tubes, and thence to the orifice of the Balloon. Mr. Robertson superintended the whole operation with great activity and judgment, and, at 17 minutes past 5 o'clock, a young lady, dressed in pink, with a splendid pink head-dress, stepped into the car, and seated herself with as much nonchalance as if occupying a sofa in a drawing room. Mr. Robertson having taken his seat, the cords were suffered gradually to elongate until it was ascertained that the buoyant Sphere was powerful enough to raise the wicker appendage in which the intrepid Æronauts were about tempting the skies. On a signal from some pieces of ordnance without the Garden, the car, after having been taken to the extreme west side, was allowed to rise.

As soon as the brave vessel was clear of her moorings, and began to ascend in slow and solemn majesty, the lady was seen kissing one hand in farewell to earth and its inhabitants, and with the other, waving towards the heavens a white flag, bearing the name of the immortal LAFAYETTE; while at the other extremity of the Car, Robertson stood erect, his natty travelling cap in one hand, and the United States' ensign extended from the other.—The Balloon took a direction of E. N. E. and in a few minutes was hovering over Long Island.

The ascension was the most beautiful and successful of any that we remember to have seen, and from the serenity and mildness of the atmosphere, we presume Mr. Robertson and his fair companion will have a safe and pleasant voyage.

P. S.—9 o'clock, P. M.—Mr. Robertson has not yet returned. We understand from a gentleman who was at the Dry Dock, that the Balloon descended near the mouth of Newtown Creek—that Mr. R. threw out his grapples, but they did not strike the land, in consequence of which, the car fell into the East River, near the shore. We are happy to announce, that the Æronauts landed with no other injury than immersion.

Extract of a letter from Thomas M. Duke, Esq. formerly of Washington, Ky. and now a resident in Texas.

San Felipe de Austin July 24, 1828.

"Isaac B. Desha who was so long confined in Kentucky for the murder of Baker, is now in confinement in this place on a charge of the same kind: the circumstances are these—Last April Desha arrived here on board the schooner Rights of Man from New Orleans, in company with a man by the name of Thomas or John Early, of Brown county Ohio, who visited this country for the purpose of removing his family here. Desha passed by the name of John Parker; they arrived in this town early in May, and remained only a few days here, and left this for San Antonio. When they left there Desha was without funds, and Early had a pretty smart sum with him. Desha arrived in San Antonia without Early, and spent money freely. On his return to this place I had him arrested, and have sent out men to-day to examine for the body of said Early. The evidence that I have been able to collect as yet, is very strong against him, and I am very much afraid that he has murdered his companion. Yesterday he confessed to me, that he was Isaac B. Desha; but not until he had been identified by a gentleman in this country. I was satisfied in my own mind that he was Desha from his family resemblance and his breathing through a silver tube."

The Philadelphia United States Gazette, of the 16th inst. says—"We had yesterday, the weather of November. A colder day has rarely been noticed."

Early Snow Storm.—The New York Commercial Advertiser of the 16th inst. says—"On Monday there was a snow storm at the North. The hills of Saratoga were covered with snow."

King's Mountain Celebration.—Tuesday, the 7th inst. being the 48th Anniversary of the Battle of King's Mountain, the companies of Captain Bradley, Captain Starnes and Capt. M'Elwee, all of York District, met at the battle ground to celebrate the day. About 12 o'clock the line was formed by Lieut. Col. Wright, immediately after which, a sham fight was commenced. The firing commenced from Capt. Bradley's company on the south west side of the hill, succeeded by Captain Starnes' company on the north, after which Captain M'Elwee's company, fired on the east. The firing and retreating was kept up for three rounds in succession. Then the companies advanced to the summit of the Mountain, where it is supposed the British surrendered. They then formed a Funeral Procession, and marched down the hill to the Burying Ground, where Military Honors were paid to the fallen brave. The companies were then dismissed for a short time for refreshments, after which they were again formed for the purpose of hearing a neat and appropriate Address, delivered by Capt. William R. Hill. This ended, the companies were dismissed by Lt. Colonel Wright, and all retired in harmony and good feeling.

Among the specimens of domestic growth and manufacture, which adorn our Office, we prize the highest a Card of Samples of Homespun, which, we know were spun by hands as white as lilies, and as warm as Love and Beauty could make them. We collected them in a Country Village, not very remote, where, however, we are obliged reluctantly to acknowledge, we still heard the piano nearly as often as we did the wheel.—If any of our fair readers are disposed to try their hands in the same species of laudable industry, we can recommend the exercise as far superior to "street spinning." It was whispered to us that in the village above alluded to, since the Tariff has begun to be practically supported, the girls' cheeks did not require rouge—their mornings were not so often visited by low spirits, and that several, who had complained of dyspeptic symptoms, and hepatic pains, have bidden their ailings adieu, and in body and mind are now objects of parental pride, and worthy of freemen's adoration.—Augusta Courier.

In the Court of Sessions for the City of New York, on the 18th inst. James Wilson, for stealing a cow, was sentenced to 3 years imprisonment in the penitentiary. When recapitulating the evidence, previous to sentencing the prisoner, (which showed that Wilson used considerable dexterity in accomplishing the object) the Recorder laughed so immoderately that he was compelled to pause for some time! The prisoner joined in the merriment, jocularly thanked his Honor, and went away with the officer in good humour, at the commendation thus bestowed upon him from the seat of justice.

[We refer our readers to the above report of proceedings, Hon. Richard Riker, Recorder, presiding, for an exhibition of astonishing levity and misplaced merriment in a Court of Justice. Prisoners have been frequently heard to say that if they go to the Penitentiary or State prison, they can soon get pardoned, and have another opportunity to have "a good laugh with His Honor." Does such an administration of justice answer the ends of law, or is it consistent with the "peace and dignity of the Commonwealth?"]—Jour. of Commerce.

Augusta, (Me.) Oct. 10.

There was a little regimental insubordination at a regimental review a few weeks ago at Belfast. It was, we believe, the revival of an old dispute as to the correctness, chiefly, of a certain manœuvre which Major General Hodsden, both last year and this, ordered the Colonel to perform, and which the latter refused to obey, considering it unmilitary. The grand question appeared to be, in preparing for inspection, whether the line should be broken by obeying the General's order, "Break into open column of companies, to the left backward." The Colonel thought they should wheel to the right forward, and either did not obey the order of the General, or did not do it quick enough, and the General took the immediate command himself, and the men were inspected. Meantime the Colonel gave word to the Captains to dismiss the companies as soon as the inspection was completed. But when the inspection was finished, the General ordered the Captains to wheel their companies into line. All obeyed but Capt. Pattee, of Searmont; the General ordered him under arrest, and gave his order to the Lieutenant to wheel &c.; he also refused to obey, and was put under arrest; the ensign followed suite. The General then sent for a Lieutenant of another company to take command; but before he arrived, the Orderly Sergeant of the refractory company dismissed it, and the men scattered tumultuously.

The New York papers mention a snow that recently fell in the interior of that state, sufficient to cover the ground. We have had weather these two or three days past "none too good" for snow—plaid cloaks, surtouts, fur caps, and blue noses, have been quite in vogue; and this too while the ladies have their mantel pieces decorated with fresh blown lilacs—and many grape vines have clusters of second crop fruit, of a considerable size.—Phil. U. S. Gaz.

Warnings to Mothers.—A little girl perished a few days ago in Fredericksburg, Virginia, from her clothes taking fire; and on Sunday week an interesting daughter of Mr. Thomas Lee, of Albany, aged 13, was burnt so severely, in consequence of her clothes taking fire, that she expired in great pain in the course of the same night.

Baltimore, Oct. 20.

Execution of Pirates.—By the schooner Centurion, Captain Miles, arrived at this port yesterday from St. Thomas, whence she sailed the 1st inst. the editors of the Chronicle have received a letter from their correspondents, of the 30th ult. which says—"We have received information here that twenty-four of the Pirates, which captured the English brig Caraboo, of which we informed you some time since, were executed at St. Kitts, say thirteen on Saturday, and eleven yesterdy. We have had no further particulars as yet. Four of the gang are under examination here, and it is generally supposed they will share the same fate."

Upwards of Three Hundred barrels of Maple Sugar have been received at New York, by the Canal, which has been sold at five cents a pound. Last season we understand a parcel of about seventy barrels was received. It is supposed the manufacture of this article will increase, and that it will soon be one of considerable importance. The supplies of Sugar from New Orleans have already increased to such an amount, that they are rapidly taking the place of Foreign Sugar, and it is supposed by many intelligent persons, that in a very few years, the supplies from new Orleans and elsewhere, will be sufficient for the consumption, and that no foreign Sugar will be required.—N. Y. Daily Adv.

We learn from the Baltimore American, that Capt. McNeill and Lieut. Whistler, of the United States Engineers, and Mr. Knight, one of the Engineers of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road, have left Baltimore, for New York. They intend to embark in one of the next packets for Liverpool, and their object is to examine the Rail Roads of Europe, and to procure such information relating thereto, as may be useful in the construction of these works in this country.

Curious Discovery.—It is a fact, as strange as it may seem, that a number of manuscript volumes, (we believe eighteen) undoubtedly genuine, containing the journal of the British House of Commons during the Protectorship of Cromwell, has been discovered among a mass of books and manuscripts belonging to a Literary Society in New York, which for many years had remained undisturbed. This journal has heretofore been lost, and no traces of it discovered by the British historians, who have been compelled to supply this gap in their historical records from other less authentic sources. The manuscripts were undoubtedly brought to this country by the Regicides, who fled hither on the Restoration, with a view to prevent the attainder of their friends, and to conceal the proceedings of the Rump Parliament. From these persons they can be traced with tolerable certainty into the possession of the Society, among whose books they have been found by an industrious and intelligent searcher for the curious. The books have not remained so long concealed, but it is their contents which have now for the first time been discovered. Heretofore they have passed as some old manuscripts, only curious as specimens of the writings of an early period.

Valuable Recipe.—Dr. Godman has recommended the following simple and certain remedy for a common and fatal disease among children. He says, "whenever they are threatened with an attack of Croup I direct a plaster covered with dry Scotch Snuff, varying in size according to the age of the patient, to be applied directly across the top of the thorax, and retained there till all the symptoms disappear. The remedy is found to be always effectual when applied in the first and second stages of the malady." The plaster is made by greasing a piece of linen, and covering it with the snuff.

Painting Houses.—A writer in the New England Farmer, whose communication was published vol. 1. page 314, says, "I believe it is a general practice for people to do their painting sometime during the three summer months; but repeated experiments have been made within a few years, which prove that a house painted late in autumn or in the winter, will hold the paint more than twice as long as one painted in warm weather. The reason is obvious—for when paints are applied in cold weather, the oil with other ingredients, form a hard cement on the surface of the clapboards, which cannot easily be erased; whereas, a building painted (as usual) in the heat of summer will soon need a new coat; for the heat causes the oil to penetrate into the wood, and leaves the other component parts dry, which will soon crumble off."

Recipe.—The bark of a willow tree, burnt to ashes, mixed with strong vinegar, and applied to the parts, will remove all warts, corns, or excrescences on any part of the body.

A Mother of Princes.—The beautiful Maria Theresa, who was married in 1726, to Francis I. Emperor of Germany, had fifteen or sixteen children, ten of whom were elevated to sovereign power. These were, Joseph II.; Leopold, Grand Duke of Tuscany, and afterwards Emperor; Maximilian, Grand Master of the Teutonic Order, and Elector of Cologne; Ferdinand, Archduke of Milan; Caroline, Queen of Sicily; Marie Atoinette, Queen of France; Maria Amelia, Archduchess of Parma; Christiana, Archduchess of the Low Countries; Mariana, Arch Abbess of Prague and Clagenfurth; and Elizabeth, Duches of Inspruck. Maria Therea was the last of the noble race of the Counts of Hapsburgh.

INDIANS AT A PLAY.

From the New York Statesman of Tuesday.

The Winnebagoes.—These savage visiters attended the Park Theatre last evening.—Seats had been reserved for them in one of the centre boxes, so as to give them a good opportunity to witness the scenery with undiminished effect. It was really an interesting sight to observe the sensations produced in the untutored children of the wild, by the first sight of one of the great amusements of civilization. They stared about, previous to the rising of the curtain, with ignorant wonder at the crowds in the pit and boxes around them. The music of the orchestra did not seem to affect them; but when the curtain rose to a bright scene of a distant city, with a nearer view of rocks and trees, their delight could not be restrained, and a simultaneous pow wow expressed their surprise and gratification. In the midst of this approbation, Wallack as Rolla entered, and a dialogue ensued, to which they seemed very attentive, the eloquent gesticulation of the actor supplying the place of a comprehension of the words. They seemed immediately to have discovered that he was an Indian warrior, and to comprehend that he was a hero. Hilson's humorous performance of Diego was very effective upon them, and their loud laughter testified that the nature of his part was not mistaken.

In the scene where Alonzo and Cora first meet, the embracing of the two lovers so delighted the Indians, that they burst into loud shouts of laughter, which seemed infectious, as the whole audience joined them. In one of the spirited speeches of Rolla, they joined the applause of the house with a pow wow—and, indeed, throughout the piece, they seemed peculiarly interested in the manly bearing and noble character of the Peruvian hero, who was represented in a masterly manner by Mr. Wallack.

The singing, so different from that of their war songs, seemed more to surprise and perplex them, than to give them pleasure. The old head man of the tribe appeared, during the performance, deeply interested, leaning his chin upon the front of the box, and gazing intently upon the performers. We should not forget that the earthquake seemed to affect them very forcibly. With thunder and lightning they were doubtless sufficiently conversant—but the stench of sulphur which ensued, gave them evident annoyance, causing them to utter many exclamations of dissatisfaction, and to cover their faces with their blankets. The oldest of the party left the theatre at the close of the play, and two only sat out the farce, and seemed to enjoy the humor and spirit with which Wallack played the honest fisherman in the Adopted Child.

Cotton Crops in Alabama.—The Huntsville Advocate of the 3d instant, says that the cotton crop in Alabama, in consequence of drought, will be much shorter this year, than it has been for several of the preceding ones. In some parts of the State, many of the fields will not yield more than half an average crop, and some not 300 lbs. per acre. In others, where the season was somewhat more favorable, the ravages of the worm have almost entirely blasted the prospects of the planters.

The total amount of Cotton received at Philadelphia from Oct. 1, 1827, to Oct. 1, 1828, was 19,685 bales; same period, season previous, 30,000, being a decrease of 10,315 bales.

Winter Comforts.—Winter is much dreaded before it arrives, yet when it comes it brings many enjoyments. It gives a new impulse to the social feelings: for the very cold that freezes a man's fingers, seems to give a kindly thaw to his feelings. The little family circle is never so closely united and so happy in itself as in a winter evening, especially when the storm is beating upon the window; and he ought to be a happy man who listens while one of his children reads, and watches his eyes sparkling when he reads of an act of magnanimity, or his lip curl in scorn at baseness and ingratitude.

Geo M. Dallas, Esq. has been chosen Mayor of Philadelphia, by a joint vote of the Select and Common Councils. Thirty members were present, of whom twenty-four voted for Mr. Dallas—the other six for Mr. Watson, the late Mayor.

Mr. Adams declares in his celebrated Message that "Liberty is Power"—He will find it to be literally correct, at least in one sense—The Liberty of Election (as the Culpeper Gazette says) is the Power of Expulsion.

Positiveness.—It was a shrewd maxim of Wesley, the founder of Methodism, not to be positive in things of doubt and uncertainty. 'When I was a young man,' said he, 'I was sure of every thing; but in a few years, finding myself mistaken in a thousand instances, I became not half so sure of most things as before.'

A letter from Edinburg, received by the editor of the New York Albion, says:—"The author of Waverly began a new novel on the first September. He is in great health and spirits. The second series of Tales of a Grandfather, is completed. He has paid off £40,000 of his debt, and in a year or two, will liquidate the whole."

The Prospect before us.—On Monday the election takes place in this state, several other states hold their elections the same day. It is therefore too [illegible] expect that any effect may be produced the great question at a distance by canvassing the merits of candidates, or discussing the measures of the administrations [illegible] there are but few throughout the country who have not made up their minds on the claims of the several candidates, and are prepared to give their vote. The admirable trait of principle and consistency evinced by Pennsylvania in her recent election, [illegible] that all the calculations made on the strength of Gen. Jackson fall short of the actual vote he will receive, and so it may be said of the State; the current is still, but it is deep, the spirit is determined, but it is silent. On the one hand, we see a disastrous administration of public affairs, an ill concerted cabinet, and a general disaffection; on the other, we perceive the organization of a great republican family, surrounding Gen. Jackson with a zeal and spirit which exceeds all before it. The services of Gen. Jackson are impressed on the mind in glowing colours—that of Mr. Adams have but little influence; the one is a reputation earned by sufferings and hardships in the public service—the other is a long life of easy comfort and velvet patronage. The people have never desire a change, and they will make a change. Calculations, therefore, are liable to error, from the fact, that districts supposed to be doubtful, may be with us, and others, which we expect to gain by [illegible] majorities, may give us overwhelming [illegible]

From sources having the best means of information, we learn, that there are [illegible] tricts in this state, which are undisposed for General Jackson, and 9 supposed to be doubtful, but a majority of which may safely relied upon as returning Jackson lectors. Under no circumstances, at a late period, can his vote in the state of New York be less than 25, and we think it will be 28. In relation to the office of Governor there is yet a stronger feeling manifested, and a probability of a greater majority. The distinguished talents of Mr. Van Buren, and the desire of organising a party government, always the safest and strongest, unite in his favour every section and division of the republican family. His opponent, Judge Thompson, however respectable, for attainments and character, will procure only a partial support of his own friends—there is a settled reluctance in countenancing any attempt of the national judiciary to interfere in state politics.

Every man must do his duty. The just expectation of great majorities can only be realised by every man giving in his vote at this extraordinary crisis, and no distance or trifling inconvenience, should prevent his attending the polls.

New York.—We have been favored with the perusal of a letter from an Adams man in the city of N. York, under date of [illegible] Oct. to his friend in this city, in which he says:—

"The best informed people here admit Jackson will get at least 25 votes in New York, and many think 30."—Balt. Repub.

Flour, Grain, &c.—In this city flour, best superfine, may be quoted at $6 25; Rye, $3 25 per bbl.; corn meal $2 75 per bbl. and $12 per hhd.

Flour in New York, was quoted on Saturday, at $6¼, a 6¾, Virginia and Maryland while canal, best brands, is held at $7; New York city flour $6¾; Rye flour was offered at $3¾; Corn meal in bbls. sold at $3 1-8. From the 8th to the 16th, there were exported 2625 bbls. of wheat flour

In New Orleans on the 20th ult. flour was dull at $5.

In Montreal, flour is quoted at $7 50.

In Boston, flour is dull at $6 5-8 to $6[illegible]

In Savannah, last quotations were 8[illegible] with a certainty of immediate reduction, if any quantity should arrive.

In Charleston, on the 11th, flour was quoted at $7—a light stock on hand.

Cotton in that market, is quoted—new Uplands, 9½ a 10 cents; old cotton, neglected, quoted at 8½ a 9½; Sea Island, 29 a 30

Rice, prime, 3¼.

In Baltimore flour is quoted at $5 87½ a 6.—The inspections for the last week amount to 11,200 bbls.

Newbern, October 25.

The Superior Court for this County has been in Session during this week—His Honor James Martin, presiding. In an action alleging breaches of the covenants in a deed, a very interesting and important question arose, how far the rivers and their tributaries in this part of the state, are to be considered 'navigable waters.' It seems, and his Honor so charged, that a creek issuing in Trent river about three miles above this place, varying from 100 to 50 yards in width, with an average depth of six feet, not affected by the regular tides, but ebbing and flowing by the same influences which affect the river, is a 'navigable water course,' and consequently cannot be made the subject of private property.

Robert Spier, appeared at this term pursuant to recognisance, and upon motion of counsel, no matter appearing to justify his detention, was discharged. This is the individual who was charged with the murder of John Williams, of Beaufort county, and during whose trial the term of the Court expired and the jury separated without returning a verdict. Whereupon the Supreme Court having the matters before them by 'habeas corpus' adjudged that he ought not to be put upon his trial again—that it would be jeopardizing his life twice for the same offence, which is forbidden by the constitution; and by their fiat for that purpose ordered him to be bailed.

A report of this latter case, collated from the notes of counsellors, will we understand, be prepared for publication.—Spectator.

OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE:

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 30, 1828.

Improvement of the Cape Fear River.—We have pleasure in stating that Mr. Nash, the State Engineer, is now engaged in superintending active operations upon the shoal at Springhill, 3 miles below this town, and that he confidently expects to remove the sand so as to open a channel for pole boats in the present low state of the water, in the course of a few days. It should also be stated, to the credit of the Navigation Company, that at a meeting called for the purpose on Saturday last, they promptly decided to avail themselves of the services of Mr. Nash, who was then in town, on his way to Wilmington, and to place the necessary laborers under his direction. Mr. Nash having acceded to their wishes, commenced the work on Monday morning last. Under such auspices, we may anticipate the accomplishment of all the improvement of which that part of the river is susceptible.

P. S.—Just as our paper is preparing for the press, we learn that the vigorous and well directed exertions of Mr. Nash have been already successful in opening a channel through Springhill shoals, sufficient for the passage of any boat which can get up to that place in the present low water. Our time will only permit us to congratulate the citizens on this cheering result, and to offer their thanks to him who has effected it.

South Carolina.—Col. John Campbell is elected to Congress by a majority of about 200 votes over Mr. Mitchell, in the district now represented by the latter. Robert W. Barnwell and Gen. John Blair are elected in the stead of Messrs. Hamilton and Carter, both of whom declined a re-election. Messrs. McDuffie, Drayton and Martin are re-elected without opposition. The other 3 Districts not heard from.

Georgia.—Messrs. Gilmer, Wilde, Thompson, Wayne, Haynes, Foster, and Lumpkin, have been elected to the next Congress, by large majorities.

Richard Bradley, Esq. has been appointed Surveyor of the Port of Wilmington, vice Thos. Callender, dec'd.

The Election.—To-morrow will commence the voting on the great question of the Presidency. The States of Pennsylvania and Ohio will choose their electors to-morrow, by the people, and by general ticket. The late election in the former State has clearly shewn that its 28 votes will be given to Gen. Jackson. As to that State there can be no doubt. But the recent election in Ohio, has made it very doubtful to whom her vote will be given. It had been conceded by the Jackson party in the Administration; but the large majorities by which several of the Administration members of Congress have been ousted, shew that the struggle will be a close one; and we think the chances are decidedly in favor of the triumph of the Jackson cause; for it is evident that there have been great changes in its favor since the election in 1824, when Clay and Adams received nearly all the votes—and it is but reasonable to suppose that the public sentiment is still tending that way. Should this expectation be realized, and the vote of Ohio be given to General Jackson, it will at once put an end to all doubts; as there are States enough certain, with the addition of those of Ohio, to effect Gen. Jackson's election. A short time will resolve all doubts. We can hardly expect any of the returns from Ohio in time for our next paper; but in the paper of the week following (which will be published on the day of the election in this State,) we calculate upon giving full returns from that State. In the mean time, we have copied a good deal of election news, as we deem that the most interesting subject at present. We also subjoin a table, showing the times and modes of election, and number of Electors in each state, which has been heretofore published, but not so fully.

GLORIOUS TRIUMPH IN OHIO.

Extract of a letter to one of the Editors, dated Cincinnati, 15th Oct. 1828.

DEAR SIR: I hasten, and take great pleasure in informing you of the result of our election in this city and county, which has resulted in the entire success of the Jackson candidates for congress and legislature, and a majority unlooked for and unexpected even of either party. In the city, our majority is 201 votes, and in the county of Hamilton, 1666 votes. This is truly a glorious victory. "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The effect produced, and our majority in this congressional district (1st) is astounding to our adversaries; it is at least 2000 votes. This you may rely on, although we have not received the complete returns from the adjacent county (Clermont) connected with this district. We have this moment received intelligence, and complete returns from the second congressional district: Mr. Shields (Jacksonian) is elected over Mr. Woods, the present member, by a majority of 1700 votes. Let it be known East and West, North and South, that Ohio is for Jackson, by at least 8000 votes. We may no longer concede the vote of this state to Adams. "Huzza for the Old Hickory Tree."

Extract of a letter to one of the Editors, dated Lebanon Oct. 15, 1828

DEAR SIR: The first agony is over. Our state and county election were held on yesterday. We have routed and beaten the coalition party, horse and foot. Mr. Shields, the Jackson candidate for congress, in the 2d district, composed of the counties of Butler and Warren, beat Mr. Woods, the coalition candidate, 1696 votes!! John W. Campbell, the Jackson candidate for governor, by about the same majority; while we have carried the entire Jackson ticket in both counties. This was a triumph not looked for by the Ebonites. We have flattering intelligence from Hamilton and Green.

Letter to one of the Editors, dated Newark, Ohio, Oct. 17, 1828

MY DEAR SIR: I hasten to communicate you the result of our election for representative to congress. Mr. Stanberry, the Jackson candidate, is elected by 1000 majority over J. Miner the Adams candidate. Wm. W. Irvin, the Jackson candidate for the adjoining district, is elected by upwards of 1100 of a majority over Beecher. Success to the cause of democracy. Set down Ohio as certain for Jackson.

Letter to one of the Editors, dated St. Clairville, Ohio, Oct 16.

SIR: I hasten to inform you of our glorious victory over the Adams party in this district. From the returns, Kennon is elected by 200 votes over Davenport. Rest assured, sir, Ohio is safe for the Hero.

Extract of a letter to one of the Editors, dated Lancaster, Ohio, Oct. 16 1828.

SIR:—I have the pleasure to inform you that as I stated in Philadelphia, Judge Irvin will go to Congress from this, the 9th district, with a majority of not less than 1200; we have carried our Jackson ticket entire by a majority of 1000, and, to add to your gratification, we shall carry our point in the 8th Congressional district; also Creighton will be left, therefore the strong hold of the Coalition party in this State has proved to be Jacksonian: in fact, there will not be five administration members from this State, to Congress, this election; and, you may as I said before, put down this State to the credit of Jackson.

Yours, &c.

Not a word in the officials by last Evening's mail about the election of members of Congress in OHIO.—The Intelligencer quotes in its little Postscript, a paragraph from the Zanesville Republican, of the 18th, saying that there can be no doubt of the re-election of Gov. Trimble, by a majority from 5 to 10,000!"

There is great doubt of it; and if he was to beat Campbell, it is no decisive test at all, because at the last election, "they were both candidates; and then, when the question was not made, Trimble received about 5 votes for 1 over his opponent."—Richmond Enquirer.

Pennsylvania.—The returns from 20 counties give the J. candidates 23,804 maj.—31 more counties to be heard from—The total majority at the late election cannot fall short of 40,000!—the members elected, as far as heard from, are—

Joel B. Sutherland, from the 1st district.
Joseph Hemphill, from the 2d district.
Daniel H. Miller, from the 3d district.
James Buchanan, Joshua Evans, George G. Lieper, } from the 4th district.
John B. Sterigere, from the 5th district.
Innis Green, from the 6th district.
Henry A Muhlenberg, Joseph Fry, jr. } from the 7th district.
Samuel D Ingham, George Wolf. } from the 8th district.
Philander Stevens, James Ford, Alem Marr, } from the 9th district.
Adam King, from the 10th district.
William Ramsey, T. H. Crawford } from the 11th district.
John Gilmore, from the 16th district.
Richard Coulter, from the 17th district.

From the Hillsborough Recorder.

For some time past considerable excitement and some disorder has existed in the neighborhood of Salisbury, not among the canaille, but among the honorables of that place; which was brought to a close at the Superior Court; indictments having been preferred against several of them for riots and libels and for challenges. Nathaniel T. Green was fined 200 dollars, William Long 500 dollars, James I. Long 250 dollars, Pleasant Henderson 200 dollars, Henry A. Martin 300 dollars, and —— Crawford 50 dollars; William Long was also sentenced to thirty days imprisonment, but this part of his sentence was remitted, upon all the parties pledging their honor in open court to abstain in future from all farther proceedings in the business.

Casualty.—A Coroner's Inquest was held on Saturday last in this county, on the body of a white man (name unknown) who was found dead on the road leading from Chapel Hill to Northington's Ferry on the Cape Fear. From the evidence before the Jury, and the situation in which his remains were found, there is no doubt but the deceased came to his death, from his clothes taking fire, which he was unable to extinguish. He stated at the house where he obtained fire the preceding evening, that he resided near the Hawfields in Orange. He was middle aged, with a red complexion.—Ral. Reg.

The Crops.—Our agricultural friends, availing themselves of the fine weather, are fast hurrying their cotton into market, and we are are gratified to learn the quality is unusually good. Already a thousand bales have reached this market, giving earnest of a productive year, and we understand that some planters expect a great yield throughout the crop. As far as the product has been ascertained, some fields have given 700 lbs. per acre the first picking, and promise considerably more. Even higher products than this are spoken of. We learn also that great despatch is made in housing it: we know of two instances where 108 lbs. to the hand was obtained from 26 to 28 hands, and learn that some of them reached 185 and 184. Exertions of this kind will soon enable our mercantile friends to fill their ships, and occasion our wharves to resound with the hum of business.—Newbern Spectator.

It will be recollected that the Administration papers have asserted that the Adams Elector would succeed in the Knoxville Electoral District in Tennessee. The result of the votes recently taken at musters and other meetings in that district, which is as follows, will at once show the feebleness of the Administration in that quarter—the only section in Tennessee where they could possibly expect to obtain even a respectable support: For Jackson 4,736, for Adams 199.

By this Morning's Mail.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.

We have received our file of Paris papers down to the 15th ult. There is a semi-official statement quoted in the Journal des Debats of the 14th, from the London Courier of the 9th, in which it is asserted that the most cordial understanding still subsisted between France, England, Austria, and Russia, and that the three former powers continued to rely upon the positive assurances given by the Emperor Nicholas, that he neither meditated nor desired the destruction or dismemberment of the Turkish empire.

Viscount Melville has succeeded the Duke of Clarence as Lord High Admiral of England.

The Greek government has resolved to send their deputies to the courts of France, England and Russia, to return them the thanks of the Greek nation for what they had already done, and to pray for the continuance of their powerful protection.

The French sloop of war Echo had an action with the Turks on the 12th of July, in the waters of Lepanto, in which she had eight men wounded. The action took place in consequence of an attempt made by the Echo to stop a Turkish vessel with Greek slaves on board.

A commercial letter of the 14th ult. from Constantinople, contains the following intelligence:—"According to all appearance the war will continue for a long period, as the Turks fight with extraordinary valour. The actions that have hitherto taken place near Choumla, Varna, and Silistria, have been most obstinate and bloody.

Letters of the 28th of Aug. from Odessa, state that the siege of Varna continues. The Turkish garrison had made a sortie, and had been repulsed with considerable loss. That of the Russians is inconsiderable: but Gen. Prince Mentchikoff was wounded by a ball, and his life is considered in danger. The Paris papers of the 15th, mention a report that Varna had surrendered.

The two French expeditions from Toulon, arrived at the Morea on the 29th of August. The troops were to be landed at Calamata.

DIED,

On the 21st inst. at Manayunk, in the 22d year of his age, the Rev. NOEL ROBERTSON, a native of the city of New York, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church at Wilmington, in this State, and recently settled in the ministry of the church at Manayunk.

At Spring Hill, in the County of Lenoir, on the 19th inst. WILLIAM BLACKLEDGE, Esq

In announcing the death of a citizen so generally known and so highly respected, we should do injustice to our feelings, were we not to pause a moment, to pay at least a passing tribute to his worth and public services. Mr. Blackledge has for a long time enjoyed in an eminent degree the confidence of his fellow citizens, who have on many occasions testified their high sense of his merits, by calling him to posts of high dignity and trust.

For several years he represented this district in the Congress of the United States, and his former political opponents will now remember and gratefully acknowledge his uniform urbanity, kindness, and disposition to accommodate. For many years he was a member of the Council of State, and was always an able and firm supporter of the principles and spirit of the Constitution.

As a husband and father, he was kind and affectionate, as a master, considerate and mindful, as a citizen, inflexibly attached to the great principles upon which reposes the fabric of our civil and political freedom.—Newbern Spectator

Near Hookerton, Greene county, on Sunday the 12th instant, MASON BROOM, a Soldier of the Revolution. He fought at Brandywine, at Germanton, and at Guilford Courthouse.

POETRY.

THE HYPOCRITE.

In the grave
The hypocrite has left his mask, and stands
In naked ugliness. He was a man
Who stole the livery of the court of heaven,
To serve the devil in; in virtue's guise
Devoured the widow's house and orphan's bread;
In holy phrase transacted villainies
That common sinners durst not meddle with.
At sacred feast, he sat among the saints,
And with his guilty hands touched holiest things;
And none of sin lamented more, or sighed
More deeply, or with graver countenance,
Or longer prayer, wept o'er the dying man,
Whose infant children, at the moment, he
Planned how to rob: in sermon style he bought,
And sold, and lied; and salutations made
In scripture terms: he prayed by quantity,
And with his repetitions long and loud,
All knees were weary; with one hand he put
A penny in the urn of poverty,
And with the other took a shilling out.
On charitable lists—(those trumps which told
The public ear, who had in secret done
The poor a benefit, and half the alms
They told of, took themselves, to keep them sounding)—
He blazed his name, more pleased to have it there
Than in a book of life.
